

The Institute of Textile Science

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS 2025 SYMPOSIUM

MARCH 18 AND 19

The Institute of Textile Science (ITS) invites students to present their research and development work in textiles, textile-based and related material science. Students can choose to participate in an oral or poster presentation. This opportunity is available to current college and university (Bachelor, Master, Ph.D.) students, as well as recent graduates (2024) and current postdoctoral fellows. The 2025 Symposium will take place in-person in Edmonton, Montreal and Raleigh, as well as virtually.

BENEFITS OF SPEAKING

- ✓ Free registration to the 2025 Symposium
- ✓ Certificate of recognition
- ✓ Valuable presenting experience
- ✓ Networking opportunities and visibility in the industry

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

- Abstracts should be about 500 words, including an introduction, methods & materials, results & discussion, and conclusion.
- Include full name, discipline, level of degree, institution, authors, and presentation title.
- Indicate presentation preference (oral*, poster, or either).
- Submit abstracts in a Word document electronically to munevaro@ualberta.ca.

Submission deadline January 31, 2025 @ 6 pm EST

*Presentations will be 10 minutes in length and preference will be given to students who did not present at the 2024 Symposium.

*Abstracts not selected for oral presentation will have the option of poster presentation.

Poster presentations will be in person at either Montreal, Edmonton or Raleigh, and students will provide a 3-minute video highlighting the key points to invite attendees to visit their poster.

Come and enjoy this unique opportunity to meet people in the textile industry and present your work!
